In September 2011, Sereina Rutschmann, Jörg Freyhof and Matthias Geiger left their offices in order to collect some fresh material from Greece for their labs. Together with Maria Stumboudi, Roberta Barbieri and Konstantinos Gritzalis they travelled in two teams through the whole country.

Leaving rainy Ancona…
Sereina in Karpenisiotis stream "kick sampling" to collect mayfly larvae.
Crystal clear and really cold water of Gorgopotamos stream.
Matthias looking for molluscs and mayflies until it gets dark.
Kostas and Matthias meritedly refilling with energy.
Natural community in Karyas stream where we could observe grazing mayfly larvae.
Fieldwork in Greece

Maria and Roberta after a day of fishing with Jörg.